

The Job of the President

1. After a bill is passed by Congress, the President can:
 - a. _____ it,
 - b. disapprove it and not _____, or
 - c. send it back to Congress for _____.

2. The President also proposes the _____, represents our nation in _____ affairs, is commander-in-chief of our _____ forces, and is responsible for naming members of the _____ and for filling openings in the _____.

3. To be elected President a person must
 - a. _____
 - b. _____
 - c. _____

4. A President may be elected for _____ terms. A term is _____ years long.

5. The people do not _____ elect the President. This is done by a group of people called _____. The candidate with the majority of _____ votes wins.

6. Cabinet members _____ and _____ to the President. Each "Secretary" is responsible for a different _____ in the government.
7. The Vice President leads the _____. If the President becomes ill or dies, the Vice President takes over and becomes _____.
8. The Constitution sets up a system of _____ and _____ to make sure the President does not become too powerful.
 - a. The Supreme Court can declare a law _____.
 - b. The President can _____ a bill, but Congress can _____ the veto.
 - c. Only _____ can declare war.
 - d. If the President ever breaks the law, he can be _____ and possible _____ from office.